

I cannot imagine anything worse than getting more unnecessary phone calls. As it is I hear from solicitors that I don't want to hear from. Please note also for future: I'm not interested in being in close quarters on a plane with 200 different phone calls going on.
So when that comes up please respect the close proximity of everyone.